1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I. INTRODUCTION

3 A. Background

4 Approximately twelve years ago, Class Counsel undertook three unprecedented cases
5 seeking refunds of telephone taxes on behalf of the residents of the City of Los Angeles, the City
6 of Long Beach, and the unincorporated areas of the County of Los Angeles. These were risky 7 and hard fought cases, requiring Plaintiffs to win two separate appeals in the Supreme Court of 8 California establishing the rights of taxpayers to bring the claims on a class-wide basis. Ardon v.
9 City of Los Angeles, 52 Cal. 4th 241 (2011); McWilliams v. City of Long Beach, 56 Cal. 4th 613
10 (2013). In October 2016, the Court granted final approval to a settlement in one of the three 11 cases, Ardon v. City of Los Angeles. Now, the parties to the remaining two cases—McWilliams 12 v. City of Long Beach, and Granados v. County of Los Angeles—seek final approval of 13 settlements, and Class Counsel seek an award of fees and expenses for their work in achieving 14 those settlements, as well as incentive awards for the plaintiffs.

15 While the three cases were related, each one was litigated separately, entailed unique 16 risks, and was hard fought by the separate defendants. Class Counsel recorded their time 17 separately in all three cases and allocated their time among the cases where the work performed 18 benefitted more than one case. See Class Counsel Decls., ¶ 4. This Motion seeks an award of 19 attorneys’ fees and expenses solely for the work performed and results achieved in the Granados 20 v. County of Los Angeles case.

21 B. Facts

22 Class Counsel² diligently and skillfully prosecuted this extremely risky case over the 23 course of roughly twelve years, without compensation or reimbursement of costs. By any 24 measure, the Settlement is exemplary. The County has agreed to pay $16,900,000 (the 25 “Settlement Fund”) to settle this litigation, representing approximately 25-28% of the telephone 26 utility users’ taxes (“TUT”) that Plaintiff alleges the County unlawfully collected from telephone 27

28 ² Capitalized terms have the meaning ascribed in the Settlement Agreement (“SA”), unless otherwise noted. See Joint Declaration, Exhibit (“Ex.”) A.

1 customers with service or billing addresses in the unincorporated areas of the County during the 2 Class Period.³ The Settlement entitles Class members to receive up to a full refund of the TUT
3 that Plaintiff alleges were improperly collected on telephone service during a 39 month period, 4 from August 25, 2005 to November 4, 2008 (the “Class Period”). Class members who file 5 claims can receive up to a 100% refund of the TUT they paid on mobile phone service during the 6 Class Period, plus a 70% refund of the TUT they paid on landline service during the Class
7 Period. This is, in essence, a full recovery of the damages they would have received if Plaintiff 8 had succeeded in certifying a class and prevailed on all of the liability issues at summary 9 judgment or trial.⁴

10 Class Counsel also negotiated an extraordinarily robust notice program. A complete 11 notice packet – including a notice, claim form and a prepaid return envelope – written in both 12 English and Spanish, was mailed to every address in the unincorporated areas of Los Angeles 13 County. Declaration of Jennifer M. Keough Regarding Notice and Claims Administration 14 (“Keough Decl.”) ¶¶ 5-8. A few months later, the Claims Administrator mailed a reminder 15 postcard. Id., ¶ 19. In addition, notice was provided in 12 print publications, 548 television 16 commercials, 571 radio commercials, over 70 million internet impressions, a press release and 17 the websites of the Claims Administrator and certain Class Counsel. Id., ¶¶ 10-11 & Ex. D 18 thereto; Joint Decl., ¶ 41. Thus, the negotiated notice program included virtually every 19 conceivable form of notice. Then, Class Counsel also independently mailed over 200 20 customized letters to area accounting firms, notifying them that their clients may be entitled to 21 _____

22 ³ The County collected approximately $89 million in TUT during the 39-month Class
23 Period. After deducting lawfully collected taxes, Plaintiff estimates that approximately $70-77 24 million of the $89 million was unlawfully collected. See Joint Declaration, ¶ 37. Factoring in the 25 9.2 million in TUT that was refunded in the settlement of an unrelated class action, Oronoz v.
County of Los Angeles (Los Angeles Superior Court Case No. BC334027), total unreimbursed damages here are approximately $60-$68 million. Id.

26 ⁴ Plaintiff did not challenge application of the TUT to charges for purely local telephone 27 service, which applies solely to landline service. In administering a refund of the Federal Excise 28 Tax (“FET”), which was coextensive with the TUT, the Internal Revenue Service determined that approximately 32% of the total FET was attributable to local service and, therefore, properly collected. Joint Decl., Ex. B. Thus, the Settlement provides for a 70% refund of the total TUT collected on landline service.

1 refunds and encouraging the firms to assist their clients with filing claims. Joint Decl., ¶ 41. In 2 addition, Class Counsel conducted a direct telephone outreach program to over 3,000 area
3 businesses. Id. Specifically, a team of paralegals and contractors called these businesses, 4 requested to speak with accounting or legal departments, and encouraged the businesses to file 5 refund claims. Id.

6 Class Counsel also negotiated a simple and fair claims process, which provides Class 7 members several options. Every Class member can claim standard refund amounts of $46 for 8 mobile service, $27.50 for landline service, and/or $46 for business landline service, with no 9 documentary evidence required, simply by completing the claim form with basic information.⁵

10 Alternatively, Class members can claim greater amounts – up to a 100% refund of the 11 TUT actually paid – with evidence of the amount of TUT paid. Class Counsel negotiated several 12 means for Class members to provide such evidence. First, Class members can submit a full set 13 of bills or other Carrier-provided documentation of the TUT paid during the Class Period, or a 14 sample of 10 bills from which an average monthly TUT payment will be calculated. Second, 15 Class members can provide consent for Verizon and/or Sprint to search their records for TUT
16 payment data, and T-Mobile customers can contact T-Mobile directly to obtain their TUT 17 payment data. The costs of these data searches will be borne by the Settlement Fund. Finally, 18 Class members who are unable to obtain Class Period records may submit a sample of ten recent 19 phone bills reflecting TUT paid to the County, and the claims administrator will calculate their 20 refund using the average monthly TUT amount shown. This latter option is a significant 21 enhancement over the options provided in the settlement in the Ardon case.

22 Although it will take months for the Claims Administrator to process all the claims and 23 calculate refunds due, and for the telephone carriers to provide TUT data where requested, by 24 any measure this Settlement is a success. As of October 2, 2018, 63,420 claims have been filed 25 by Class Members. Keough Decl., ¶ 20. This represents approximately 14% of the addresses in 26

27 ⁵ Ordinarily, taxpayers bear the burden of producing evidence of any tax refund they are 28 due (see, e.g., Dicon Fiberoptics, Inc. v. Franchise Tax Bd., 53 Cal. 4th 1227, 1236 (2012)), so the fact that taxpayers are receiving refunds without a documentation requirement is a significant achievement.

1 the unincorporated areas of the County to which notices were sent, which exceeds the number of 2 claims the Claims Administrator expected to receive and is similar to the typical claims rates 3 seen in these types of settlements. Id.

4 Achieving this exemplary Settlement was far from certain. Class Counsel faced a 5 significant risk, perhaps a likelihood, that their investment of substantial resources over the 6 course of more than a decade would be entirely for naught. Indeed, at the time this case was 7 filed, the generally accepted understanding was that class claims for tax refunds were not 8 permitted, and this Court ruled against Plaintiff on that threshold legal issue. Plaintiff appealed, 9 and the Court of Appeal stayed the appeal pending a decision by the Court of Appeal (and then 10 the California Supreme Court) in the related Ardon case. On July 25, 2011, the Supreme Court 11 of California ruled in plaintiff Ardon's favor, reversing the judgment of the Court of Appeal, and 12 holding that "[c]lass claims for tax refunds against a local governmental entity are permissible 13 under [Government Code] section 910 in the absence of a specific tax refund procedure set forth 14 in an applicable governing claims statute." Ardon, 52 Cal. 4th at 253. Thereafter, the Court of 15 Appeal lifted the stay in and reversed this Court's order granting the County's demurrer and 16 dismissing the case. Granados v. Cnty. of L.A., No. B200812, 2012 Cal. App. Unpub. LEXIS 17 2399 (2d App. Dist. Mar. 28, 2012).

18 The City of Long Beach, however, filed a Petition for Review in the McWilliams case 19 before the Supreme Court of California on an issue that had not been decided in Ardon. The City 20 argued that, while the Ardon decision held that class claims are permitted under the Government 21 Code, the City's own municipal code prohibited the filing of class claims. On May 3, 2012, the 22 County filed an amicus curiae letter in support of the McWilliams Petition arguing that the 23 Supreme Court should grant the Petition for Review "and address this very important issue for 24 local governments." Joint Decl., ¶ 17. Like the City of Long Beach, the County maintained that 25 its own claiming ordinance applied. Id. The Court granted the petition. McWilliams v. City of 26 Long Beach, No. S202037, 2012 Cal. LEXIS 6604 (July 11, 2012). Thus, the victory achieved 27 in Ardon was at risk of being nullified in McWilliams. On April 25, 2013, however, the Supreme 28 Court once again ruled in favor of the taxpayers, holding that local ordinances cannot supplant

1 the procedures specified by the Government Claims Act, which allow class claims. McWilliams, 2 56 Cal. 4th at 629.

3 Even then, however, the County did not capitulate. On December 16, 2016, the County 4 filed a Motion to Dismiss this action pursuant to Code of Civil Procedure sections 583.310 and 5 583.420, arguing that Plaintiff had failed to bring the case to trial within five years. After 6 extensive briefing, this Court denied the County's Motion to Dismiss on April 11, 2017.

7 Plaintiff filed his Motion for Class Certification on February 21, 2017. The County
8 opposed the motion arguing, among other things, that the settlement in the Oronoz case 9 extinguished any claims that could be asserted here. Joint Decl., ¶ 19. The Court ruled in 10 Plaintiff's favor, certifying a class on May 23, 2017.

11 Then, on April 6, 2017, Plaintiff filed a Motion for Summary Judgment or, in the 12 Alternative, Summary Adjudication. Plaintiff also served several third-party subpoenas between 13 May and September of 2017, and, as a result, AT&T, Sprint, and Rust Consulting produced 14 documents and T-Mobile executed a declaration, which Plaintiff intended to use to support his 15 motion and/or to prove damages at trial.

16 Eventually, the County agreed to a mediation. On September 13, 2017, following an 17 informal exchange of information, the parties participated in an all-day mediation session before 18 Judge Tevrizian (Ret.) where they agreed to a settlement in principle. Resolving all terms 19 required additional negotiations over the course of several months. The parties executed the 20 Settlement Agreement on March 6, 2018.

21 Class Counsel now seek an award of $4,000,000 for attorneys' fees, or 23.7% of the 22 $16,900,000 Settlement Fund, plus reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses of $90,368.41, as 23 compensation for their considerable investment of time and effort and their success in achieving 24 the Settlement. Class Counsel have invested a collective lodestar of $2,450,625.75 over the 25 roughly 12-year course of this litigation. Joint Decl., ¶ 44; Class Counsel Decls. Thus, the 26 requested fee represents a modest multiple of 1.63 of their lodestar. All of the relevant factors 27 demonstrate that an award of $4 million in fees, plus reimbursement of expenses, is warranted 28 here. Plaintiff also requests an incentive award of $6,000 in recognition of his service on behalf

1 of the Class.

2 II. LEGAL ARGUMENT

3 There are two generally accepted methods for determining an award of attorneys’ fees 4 under California law: (1) the percentage-of-the-recovery method, and (2) the lodestar method.
5 Typically the percentage method is selected when a settlement results in a common fund, and the 6 lodestar method is selected when a settlement does not result in a common fund. In either case, 7 courts will typically refer to the other method as a cross-check to ensure that the fee award is 8 fair. Roos v. Honeywell Int’l, Inc., 241 Cal. App. 4th 1472, 1493 (2015). “The trial court is the 9 best judge of the value of professional services rendered in its court, and while its judgment is 10 subject to our review, [the Court of Appeal] will not disturb that determination unless . . .
11 convinced that it is clearly wrong.” Id. at 1482 (internal quotations omitted). Class Counsel’s 12 request for $4,000,000 for attorneys’ fees is appropriate under either the lodestar or percentage-13 of-recovery standard.

14 A. The Requested Fees Should Also Be Approved Under the Percentage 15 of the Common Fund Method

16 The common fund doctrine is generally held applicable “where plaintiffs’ efforts have 17 effected the creation or preservation of an identifiable fund of money out of which the fees will 18 be paid.” Jordan v. Dep’t of Motor Vehicles, 100 Cal. App. 4th 431, 446-47 (2002) (citing 19 Serrano v. Priest, 20 Cal. 3d 25, 37-38 (1977)). Here, the Settlement resulted in creation of an 20 identifiable $16.9 million fund from which tax refunds, notice and administration costs, 21 attorneys’ fees and expenses and any incentive award will be paid. In Laffitte v. Robert Half 22 Int’l, Inc., 1 Cal. 5th 480, 503 (2016), the Supreme Court held that where, as here, “class action 23 litigation establishes a monetary fund for the benefit of the class members, and the trial court in 24 its equitable powers awards class counsel a fee out of that fund, the court may determine the 25 amount of a reasonable fee by choosing an appropriate percentage of the fund created” and that 26 “the percentage method is a valuable tool.”

27 Although it is possible that the entire $16.9 million Settlement Fund will not be 28 exhausted, and therefore some amount could revert to the County, in applying the common fund method under California law, attorneys’ fees are “calculated on the basis of the total fund made

1 available rather than the actual payments made to the class.” Lealao v. Beneficial Cal., Inc., 82
2 Cal. App. 4th 19, 51 (2000) (emphasis added) (citing Williams v. MGM-Pathe Commc’ns Co., 3 129 F.3d 1026 (9th Cir. 1997)).⁶ So, for example, in Collins v. City of Los Angeles, 205 Cal. App.
4 4th 140, 147-48, 158 (2012), the Court included in its common fund valuation for purposes of 5 determining appropriate attorneys’ fees the entire value of the judgment, even though a portion 6 of that amount was payable to class members who could not be located and would revert to the 7 City of Los Angeles.⁷

8 In Ardon, the Court noted that fees awarded in class actions average around 33% of the 9 recovery. See Joint Decl., Ex. D at 21 (citing Consumer Privacy Cases, 175 Cal. App. 4th 545, 10 558, n.13 (2009): “Empirical studies show that, regardless whether the percentage method or the 11 lodestar method is used, fee awards in class actions average around one-third of the recovery.”)
12 In Laffitte, for example, the Supreme Court of California affirmed a fee award representing 13 33.33% of a $19 million common fund, plus expenses. Laffitte, 1 Cal. 5th 480; Laffitte v. Robert 14 Half Int’l Inc., 231 Cal. App. 4th 860, 869 (2014).

17 ⁶ See also Six (6) Mexican Workers v. Ariz. Citrus Growers, 904 F.2d 1301, 1311 (9th Cir.
18 1990 (“attorneys’ fees sought under a common fund theory should be assessed against every 19 class members’ share, not just the claiming members.”) (citing Boeing Co. v. Van Gemert, 444 20 U.S. 472, 480-81 (1980)); Estrada v. iYogi, Inc., No. 2:13-cv-01989 WBS CKD, 2016 U.S. Dist.
21 LEXIS 8947, at *18 (E.D. Cal. Jan. 26, 2016) (“Where there is a claims-made settlement . . . the 22 percentage of the fund approach . . . is based on the total money available to class members, not 23 just the money actually claimed.”); Glass v. UBS Fin. Servs., Inc., No. C-06-4068 MMC, 2007 24 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 8476, at *50 (N.D. Cal. Jan 26, 2007) (the court “must award fees as a 25 percentage of the entire fund, or pursuant to the lodestar method, not on the basis of the amount 26 of the fund actually claimed by the class”); Fernandez v. Victoria Secret Stores, LLC, No. C-06-
27 04149 MMM (SHx), 2008 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 123546, at *36 n.39 (C.D. Cal. July 21, 2008) 28 (“Use of the ‘common fund’ concept in a case such as this, where each class member can recover only a finite amount, does not affect the calculation of attorneys’ fees even if a portion of the fund is not claimed.”).

⁷ Moreover, any reversion here is tantamount to a cy pres distribution. The goal of the Settlement is to pay TUT refunds to Class members, most of whom are still residents of the County. Thus, a reversion to the County ensures that the Settlement Fund will be used for the benefit of the majority of Class Members. Further, Code of Civil Procedure section 384(c) recognizes that, in cases against public entities, a reversion to the public entity satisfies a public purpose.

1 Here, the 23.7% fee sought falls comfortably below the 33% average, and easily within the 2 range commonly approved. See, e.g., Chavez v. Netflix, Inc., 162 Cal. App. 4th 43, 66 n.11 3 (2008) (27.9 percent of the class benefit awarded and noting “[e]mpirical studies show that,
4 regardless whether the percentage method or the lodestar method is used, fee awards in class 5 actions average around one-third of the recovery”); Bell v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 115 Cal. App. 4th 6 715, 726 (2004) (“25 percent of the total damages fund recovered for the class”); In re Cal.
7 Indirect Purchaser X-Ray Film Antitrust Litig., No. 960886, 1998 WL 1031494, at *8-9
8 (Alameda Cnty. Super. Ct. Oct. 22, 1998) (awarding 30% of fund and citing eleven other awards 9 ranging from 30%-45%).⁸

10 The percentage method is appropriate here as it “provides a credible measure of the 11 market value of the legal services provided” in contingency litigation (which almost always 12 involves percentage fee agreements). Lealao, 82 Cal. App. 4th at 49. As explained in Laffitte:

13 The recognized advantages of the percentage method—including relative ease of 14 calculation, alignment of incentives between counsel and the class, a better 15 approximation of market conditions in a contingency case, and the encouragement 16 it provides counsel to seek an early settlement and avoid unnecessarily prolonging the litigation . . . —convince us the percentage method is a valuable tool that should not be denied our trial courts.

17 Laffitte, 1 Cal. 5th at 503. The percentage method also encourages the successful attorney to 18 accept the contingency risk and delay in payment, the importance of which California decisions 19 have repeatedly emphasized. See, e.g., Ketchum v. Moses, 24 Cal. 4th 1122, 1136 (2001)

21 receive a premium for taking that risk”) (internal quotations omitted); Lealao, 82 Cal. App. 4th at

5 B. The Requested Fees Should Be Approved Under the Lodestar Method

6 California courts typically apply the lodestar plus multiplier method as a cross-check on 7 fees calculated under the percent-of-recovery method, or when there is not a common fund 8 capable of valuation with reasonable certainty. Lealao, 87 Cal. App. 4th at 37-39, 45-46. The 9 Court is not required to perform an exhaustive cataloging and review of counsel’s hours. See In 10 re Rite Aid Corp. Secs. Litig., 396 F.3d 294, 306 (3d Cir. 2005) (“The lodestar cross-check 11 calculation need entail neither mathematical precision nor bean-counting.”). See also Destefano

13 Feb. 11, 2016) (noting that “the Court may rely on . . . summaries [of hours worked], as actual 14 billing records are unnecessary in the context of assessing the lodestar cross-check.”).

15 1. Class Counsel’s Lodestar is Reasonable and Supports the 16 Requested Award

17 Class Counsel’s lodestar of $2,450,625.75 over the course of this twelve year litigation is 18 reasonable. The starting point in the lodestar analysis is to discern the prevailing hourly rate for 19 similar work in the pertinent geographic region. Chodos v. Borman, 227 Cal. App. 4th 76, 93 20 (2014) (“hourly amount to which attorneys of like skill in the area would typically be entitled”) 21 (citing Serrano v. Unruh, 32 Cal. 3d 621, 640 n.31 (1982)).

22 In Ardon, the Court previously approved the hourly rates of Class Counsel here over the 23 objection of the defendant, and after considering expert evidence. Joint Decl., Ex. D at 20 24 (“Based on this Court’s familiarity with the rates charged by attorneys in the Los Angeles area, 25 the Court finds that the hourly rates charged by the attorneys are reasonable.”) Class Counsel’s 26 rates should be approved again here. Class Counsel are highly-regarded members of the bar, 27 have extensive experience in class actions and complex litigation, and their rates are squarely in 28 line with prevailing rates in this jurisdiction, are paid by hourly paying clients of their firms, and/or have been approved by numerous other courts. See Class Counsel Decls.

1 Class Counsel’s rates of $625 to $965 for partners and $445 to $530 for associates are 2 within the prevailing market rates in the Los Angeles area for attorneys of comparable skill, 3 experience, and reputation.⁹ See, e.g., Bergstein v. Stroock & Stroock & Lavan, No. BC483164, 4 2013 Cal. Super. LEXIS 593, at *12 (L.A. Cnty. Super. Ct. Feb. 14, 2013) (approving rates up to 5 $920 per hour and noting that “in the Los Angeles legal community, attorney billing rates of 6 $1000 per hour and above are no longer unheard of”); Rodriguez v. Cnty. of Los Angeles, 96 F.
7 Supp. 3d 1012, 1022-23 (C.D. Cal. 2014) (approving attorney rates from $500 to $975 in a case
8 against County of Los Angeles); Blacksher v. United States Sec. Assocs., Inc., No. BC348103, 9 2008 Cal. Super. LEXIS 1464, at *6-7 (L.A. Cnty. Super. Ct. Mar. 7, 2008) (noting that partner 10 billing rates for Southern California ranged as high as $825.00 in 2008). Likewise, Class 11 Counsel’s rates for paralegals, legal assistants, and law clerks, which range from $60 to $320, are 12 reasonable. See Goldman v. Lifelock, Inc., No. 115CV276235, 2016 Cal. Super. LEXIS 82, at *6 13 (Santa Clara Cnty. Super. Ct. Feb. 5, 2016) (approving paralegal rates up to $320 per hour);

15 at *65 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 24, 2015) (approving paralegal rates of $240 to $345).

16 Further, Class Counsel’s total hours are reasonable. The extensive work performed by 17 Class Counsel, from initial investigation, through appeal, discovery, class certification, briefing 18 summary judgment, and the lengthy settlement negotiation process, is summarized in the 19 accompanying Joint Declaration. On average, Class Counsel invested approximately 452 hours 20 per year in this roughly 12-year litigation. Courts routinely find comparable expenditures of 21 time reasonable in similarly complex litigation. See, e.g., Skold v. Intel Corp., No. 1-05-CV-

5 eight years of intense, bitterly-contested litigation.”); Chemical Bank v. City of Seattle, 19 F.3d
6 1291, 1298 (9th Cir. 1994) (affirming 137,000 billable hours was reasonable for a seven-year 7 case).

8 Each firm here has also submitted a declaration summarizing the work they performed by 9 category, attesting that their reported hours are accurate and were reasonably incurred in 10 connection with the prosecution of the case, and that their firms maintain daily, 11 contemporaneous time records. See, e.g., Concepcion v. Amscan Holdings, Inc., 223 Cal. App.
12 4th 1309, 1324 (2014) (“It is not necessary to provide detailed billing timesheets to support an 13 award of attorney fees under the lodestar method Declarations of counsel setting forth the 14 reasonable hourly rate, the number of hours worked and the tasks performed are sufficient.”) 15 (citing Wershba v. Apple Computer, 91 Cal. App. 4th 224, 254-55 (2001)); see also Blackwell v.
16 Foley, 724 F. Supp. 2d 1068, 1081 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (“An attorney’s sworn testimony that, in 17 fact, it took the time claimed ‘. . . is evidence of considerable weight on the issue of the time 18 required’”) (alterations in original). Further, each firm kept time separately for the three 19 related cases, and allocated their time among the three cases for work that benefitted more than 20 one case—there was no double billing. See Class Counsel Decls., ¶ 4.

21 Class Counsel also expects to incur significant additional lodestar going forward. In the 22 Ardon case, as an example, Class Counsel have incurred approximately $400,657.00 in 23 additional lodestar since the Court’s Final Approval Order, in large part due to time spent 24 overseeing the claims administration process and communicating with class members. See Class 25 Counsel Decls., ¶ 11. Here as well, Class Counsel has closely monitored the claims process and 26 has been proactive in addressing issues and advising and assisting claimants. The process of 27 analyzing claims and the carrier search procedure is anticipated to take at least several months, 28 during which time Class Counsel expects to continue a high level of oversight and involvement.

2. The Requested 1.63 Multiplier is Well-Earned

In Ardon, the Court “[had] no trouble finding that [a 1.45] positive multiplier [wa]s warranted,” based on the “quality of the representation, the novelty and difficulty of the issues presented and the skill displayed by the lawyers in presenting them, the results achieved on behalf of the class, and the contingent nature of the fee award” Joint Decl., Ex. D at 21. Here, the Court should likewise have no trouble approving the requested 1.63 multiple.

Class Counsel’s “unadorned lodestar reflects the general local hourly rate for a fee-bearing case; it does not include any compensation for contingent risk, extraordinary skill, or any other factors a trial court may consider” Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th at 1138. Here, Class Counsel requests a total award of $4 million in fees, which equates to a multiple of 1.63 on their lodestar of $2,450,625.75. This multiple is very reasonable.

To “approximate market-level compensation for such services, which typically includes a premium for the risk of nonpayment or delay in payment of attorney fees” (id.), courts employ fee enhancements, adjusting the fee “based on consideration of factors specific to the case,” PLCM Grp., Inc. v. Drexler, 22 Cal. 4th 1084, 1095 (2000). Those factors include: (1) the results achieved on behalf of the Class; (2) the novelty and difficulty of the questions involved and the skill displayed in presenting them; (3) the response of the Class to the settlement, including a lack of objections to the settlement terms, and particularly to the fee award; (4) counsel’s experience, reputation, and ability; (5) counsel’s preclusion from other work; and (6) the contingent nature of the fee award. See Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th at 1132; Cundiff v. Verizon Cal., Inc., 167 Cal. App. 4th 718, 724 n.3 (2008); Consumer Privacy Cases, 175 Cal. App. 4th at 556. All of these factors weigh in favor of enhancement.

One of the primary fee enhancement factors is contingency risk. In Ketchum, the Supreme Court explained that its purpose “is to bring the financial incentives for attorneys enforcing important . . . rights . . . into line with incentives they have to undertake claims for which they are paid on a fee-for-services basis.” Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th at 1132 (citing Rader v. Thrasher, 57 Cal. 2d 244, 253 (1962)). To achieve this purpose, the “contingent fee must be higher than a fee for the same legal services paid as they are performed.” Ketchum, 24 Cal. 4th

1 at 1132 (emphasis added). The enhancement is “intended to approximate market-level 2 compensation for [the attorney’s] services, which [in contingency-fee cases] typically includes a 3 premium for the risk of nonpayment or delay in payment of attorney fees.” Id. at 1138. See 4 Graham v. DaimlerChrysler Corp., 34 Cal. 4th 553, 579 (2004) (“One of the most common fee 5 enhancers . . . is for contingency risk.”). Here, Class Counsel litigated for nearly 12 years and 6 incurred over $2.45 million in lodestar and over $90,000 in out-of-pocket costs, while facing a 7 serious risk that they would never be compensated at all. Indeed, the trial court ruled against 8 Plaintiff on the threshold legal issue.¹⁰ There were, of course, numerous other possible pitfalls, 9 including class certification and the task of proving claims based on highly technical application 10 of tax law to modern telephone service.

11 There is also no question that the issues here were both novel and difficult, and Class 12 Counsel demonstrated skill throughout the case. Class Counsel’s experience, reputation, and 13 ability to achieve extraordinary results in class action and complex litigation is second to none 14 (see Class Counsel Decls.), and was put to the test in this case by a sophisticated defendant with 15 ample resources. Further, Class Counsel were precluded from other work while they fought for 16 the rights of taxpayers.

17 The result achieved here also weighs heavily in favor of enhancement. The $16.9 million 18 Settlement Fund represents approximately 25-28% of the TUT unlawfully collected by the 19 County during the Class Period. See Joint Decl., ¶ 37. The claims process is simple and fair, 20 and the notice program was extraordinarily robust, and included Class Counsel’s direct outreach 21 efforts to thousands of businesses. Id., ¶ 43. The response of the Class Members has also been 22

23 ¹⁰ Plaintiff’s success in the appeal in the Supreme Court of California established the rights
24 of all California taxpayers to pursue class refund claims under the Government Code. Courts 25 recognize that “the public interest is served by rewarding attorneys who assume representation 26 on a contingent basis with an enhanced fee to compensate them for the risk that they might be 27 paid nothing at all for their work.” Garner v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co., No. CV 08 1365 28 CW, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 49482, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 22, 2010) (citing Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corp., 290 F.3d 1043, 1050 (9th Cir. 2002)). 1 overwhelmingly positive. To date, 63,420 claims have been filed, and Class Counsel and the 2 Claims Administrator have received only two objections. Keough Decl., ¶¶ 20, 27. The two 3 objectors did not complain about Plaintiff’s application for attorneys’ fees and expenses nor the 4 requested incentive award.

5 Finally, the requested multiple of 1.63 is below multiples commonly awarded in class

13 The fact that the defendant here is a public entity does not militate against the modest

5 C. Class Counsel’s Expenses Are Reasonable

6 Class Counsel also seek $90,368.41 in unreimbursed expenses, which include, inter alia, 7 expert witness and consultant fees, transcript fees, necessary travel, and other reasonable 8 expenses. See Class Counsel Decls. Class Counsel also anticipate incurring additional expenses 9 through the end of the claims process, for which they will not seek additional reimbursement.

10 D. The Requested Incentive Award to Plaintiff Is Reasonable

11 Class Counsel requests a $10,000 incentive award for the Class Representative, an 12 amount often awarded by courts, including the $10,000 incentive award granted in Ardon. See 13 Joint Decl., Ex. D at 23; Cellphone Termination Fee Cases, 186 Cal. App. 4th 1380, 1393-95

19 of Willy Granados (Joint Decl., Ex. E) as well as in the Joint Declaration (id., ¶ 53).

20 III. CONCLUSION

21 For the foregoing reasons, Class Counsel respectfully request an award of $4 million in 22 fees, reimbursement of $90,368.41 in expenses, and an incentive award of $10,000 to the Class 23 Representative, to be paid from the Settlement Fund.

24 _____
25 ¹² As set forth in the SA, the “Attorneys’ Fees and Expense award will be allocated among 26 Class Counsel with the approval of the Class Counsel.” Joint Decl., Ex. A, § X.A. Class Counsel 27 have reached agreement among themselves as to the allocation of fees based on their relative 28 contributions to the litigation. Plaintiff has been informed and consented to the agreement in writing, consistent with California Rules of Professional Conduct, rule 2-200 and California Rules of Court, rule 3.769. See Granados Decl., ¶ 9.
